Claims 2-4, 7, 9, 11-13, 21, 27-31, 34-36, 38 and 39 are objected to as being dependent upon a rejected base claim, but would be allowable if rewritten in independent form including all of the limitations of the base claim and any intervening claims.

The following is a quotation of the appropriate paragraphs of 35 U.S.C. 102 that form the basis for the rejections under this section made in this Office action:

A person shall be entitled to a patent unless –

(b) the invention was patented or described in a printed publication in this or a foreign country or in public use or on sale in this country, more than one year prior to the date of application for patent in the United States.

Claims 1, 6, 8, 10, 19, 20, 22-26 and 32 stand, and newly added 33 and 37 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 102(b) as being anticipated by Amutan et al., for reasons of record set forth in the previous Office Action.

At pages 7 and 8 of the amendment filed 5 October 2009, Applicants argues that the left element of Tan1 is not functional to transpose. First, it must be noted that this element is taught by the reference as being a transposon. Applicants argue that the failure to find other copies of the element, whereas a number of copies of vader were found, is evidence of the inability of the left element to transpose. However, this is an instance where the absence of evidence is not evidence of absence. There are a number of reasons that multiple copies of vader may be found with none of the left element, for example: vader may transcribe at a significantly higher rate, and thus by chance no other copy of the left element has arisen in the strain tested; or, the longer and differently structured, not to mention transcriptionally active left element simply may be disfavored by the cell away from the known location. Thus, the indirect and inconclusive evidence presented by Applicant does not overcome the teaching of the functionality of this element in the reference.

THIS ACTION IS MADE FINAL. Applicant is reminded of the extension of time policy as set forth in 37 CFR 1.136(a).

A shortened statutory period for reply to this final action is set to expire THREE MONTHS from the mailing date of this action. In the event a first reply is filed within TWO MONTHS of the mailing date of this final action and the advisory action is not mailed until after the end of the THREE-MONTH shortened statutory period, then the shortened statutory period will expire on the date the advisory action is mailed, and any extension fee pursuant to 37 CFR 1.136(a) will be calculated from the mailing date of the advisory action. In no event, however, will the statutory period for reply expire later than SIX MONTHS from the mailing date of this final action.
